Saturnino Patiño Jauja

I, Saturnino Patiño Jauja, grew up with a profound connection to nature and a deep appreciation for horseback riding, thanks to family traditions passed down through generations. In addition to my passion for adventure tourism, I hold a bachelor's degree in economics, specializing in data science and analysis, and I am also a skilled web developer. Inspired by a unique vision of combining adventure with cultural education, I founded Intiñan.com to share my love of horseback riding and Peru's lesser-known treasures with the world.
